

Biography of Evi Gazi (RAE, Greece)

Ms. Evi Gazi is a professional with over 25 years of experience in project management the energy sector. She currently holds the position of Energy Expert, Member of the Scientific Secretariat of the Greek Regulatory Authority (RAE) and Chairman's Office for Gas, assisting the Chairman in the overview of RAE's policy and activities in the natural gas sector. In her work at RAE, she has been actively involved in the whole range of the GAS Department's activities: Transmission System Network Code amendments for the harmonization with the EU Network Codes, distribution/supply unbundling, implementation of the new legal framework and drafting of the secondary legislation for the distribution sector, benchmarking, market monitoring, cross-border and regional cooperation, regulatory framework for large infrastructure projects (Network Code of the TAP pipeline, IGB Market Test and Exemption Decision, LNG facilities).

Ms. Gazi holds a PhD in Process Design, Simulation and Control at the University of Pennsylvania (USA).